

COURT DOOMS NAT GOODWIN TO BACHELOR'S LIFE

Justice Giegerich Ends His Matrimonial Career in Granting Edna Goodrich's Divorce.

MAY NOT WED HERE.

And Four Wives Will Be His All Unless He Leaves New York State.

Woe, woe and more woe is Nathaniel C. Goodwin!

A most promising matrimonial career has been nipped in its bud by a pitiless Justice of the Supreme Court. Nat C. Goodwin, comedian and husband extraordinary, may never marry again! Wife No. 5, he said, "Roman Senator," blushing flower of the plains or otherwise, will never be Nat's—at least, as long as Edna Goodrich lives and Nat chooses to remain in the State of New York.

Justice Giegerich signed Mrs. Edna Goodrich Goodwin's interlocutory decree of absolute divorce against Goodwin to-day, and in so doing fixed Nat's future bachelorhood to the period of his last wife's life. Three months from now, when the final decree is signed, Mrs. Goodwin No. 4—now just simple and beautiful Miss Edna Goodrich—may go forth in quest of another husband.

But not Nat. The only chance for Nat to marry again in this State, according to Justice Giegerich's decision is to marry Miss Goodrich, and she is authorized for the statement that as far as she is concerned, Nat's matrimonial prospects are absolutely nil.

Goodwin's wives have been Miss Eliza Weatherly, Mrs. Nelly Pease, Maxine Elliott, and Edna Goodrich.

LABOR LAWS AMENDED ON EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY.

Assemblyman McGrath's Bill Drawn to Meet Views of Court of Appeals.

ALBANY, March 28.—A bill introduced to-day by Assemblyman McGrath of New York amending the labor law by extending the liability of the employer for injury to an employee where the injury is caused without any fault of the latter.

"The Court of Appeals," said McGrath, "pointed out in its recent decision declaring the law unconstitutional that it is within the province of the Legislature to abrogate the common law 'fellow servant' and 'contributory negligence' rules, and this bill is designed to meet the court's suggestion with reference to the fellow servant doctrine."

AGAINST COX JUDGES.

Chief Judge of Ohio Circuit Court Takes Case From Them.

CINCINNATI, March 28.—Upholding the contention of Prosecution-Attorney Henry T. Hunt at every point, Judge Thomas A. Jones, Chief Judge of the Ohio Circuit Court, to-day removed from further consideration of the Cox case Judges Peter Swing and Samuel W. Smith of the Circuit Court of Hamilton County. He designated his conferees in the Fourth Judicial Circuit, Judges Festus Walters of Cincinnati, O., and E. D. Sayre of Athens, O., to act in place of the deceased jurists.

The actions came upon affidavits alleging prejudice against Judge Frank Cronan of the Court of Common Pleas and in favor of George B. Cox, filed by the Prosecution-Attorney last week.

Picturesque Mission Jubilee at Opera House

With Women of All Nations in Big Pageant

1,000 Young Persons From Sunday Schools of Greater New York in Tableaux Showing Scope of Missionary Work.

BY ETHEL LLOYD PATTERSON.

It seems all persons interested in foreign missions do not always stay at home and make little flannel petticoats for heathens. Occasionally they hold a jubilee. Or rather, that is what the persons interested in foreign missions are doing in New York just now.

To mark the fiftieth anniversary of the inception of organized foreign mission work by women in America a jubilee by missionary societies opened yesterday afternoon in the Metropolitan Opera House. The spectacle was a pageant of missions in which more than 1,000 young people took part in a series of tableaux to illustrate the progress of mission work in foreign lands.

Personally, I am sure every missionary from here to South Africa and back again attended. When I attempted to enter the capacious lobby of the Opera House I found myself in the midst of an aggregation of lady missionaries that overflowed into Broadway and swirled around cars and cabs. It was said every seat in the house had been sold for weeks ahead and that the competition at the box office was to obtain standing room. Eventually I gave up all idea of making an entrance in the regular way and went around to the stage door and thence behind the scenes.

Many rehearsals held. And so it came about that one of the first sights which greeted my eye was a very modern angel. She was the regulation blond angel with beautiful treble paper wings and golden trumpet, but she stood in the stage entrance, telephone for a taxi.

Of the 1,000 young people who took part in the tableaux practically all were members of Sunday school classes from churches in New York, Brooklyn and Jamaica. Four rehearsals had been held in the various churches and one dress rehearsal in the Opera House. Among the churches and societies represented were Baptist, Congregational, Disciples of Christ, Lutheran, Methodist, Presbyterian, Episcopal, Reformed Dutch, Woman's Union Missionary Society, Religious Society of Friends and the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations. There was a chorus from the Musical Art Society under the direction of Frank Damrosch and an orchestra of eighty pieces from the Philharmonic Society under David Mannes.

"What do you represent?" I asked an exceedingly pretty girl who stood draped in many yards of cheese cloth in the wings.

"Oh, I am just a heathen," she replied modestly, and then in explanation, "We are most of us either heathen or angels."

Which seemed true enough when I thought it over.

Pageant of Women. After the prelude under the direction of Mr. Damrosch, the pageant opened with the first tableau showing a procession of women of all nations who one hundred years ago had not heard the first note of redemption and release for the souls of women. Women of China, with bound feet, little wives and widows of India, black-skinned Moslem women, Buddhists from Burma, and Siamese, Japanese, Turkish, Korean and African women. Then the angels drew near they lifted their heads and new life, followed the Messengers of Peace.

The second tableau showed the parlor of Mrs. Ropes in the year 1829. Mrs. Ropes was one of the first organizers of missionary work.

The third tableau represented a market place in a village in India. A beggar is aided by a missionary. A beggar is aided by a missionary. A beggar is aided by a missionary.

The fourth tableau was of a dispensary in China. Besides the doctor, nurses and Bible women were the sick people and their friends. The missionaries took to the sick who visit the dispensary of the great Healer of Sin.

HILLTOPS TACKLE ATLANTA TEAM IN LAST OF SERIES

Manager Chase Sends Quinn to the Box, With Otis Johnson at Third.

BATTING ORDER.

Atlanta. Walter, cf. Jordan, 2b. Moran, lf. Stokely, 1b. Johnson, 3b. O'Connell, ss. Daniels, c. Hartwell, ss. Sweeney, c. Vaughn, p. Umpire—Derrick.

(Special to The Evening World.) ATLANTA, Ga., March 28.—The Hilltops, led by manager Chase, today took the field against the Atlanta Southern League team in the last game of their series this afternoon. The contest was decided under more favorable weather conditions. The high wind had died down and a warm sun made it feel like a May day around New York.

Manager Chase stuck to his line-up of yesterday except in the matter of pitching staff, and it was his intention to use Jim Vaughn and Jack Quinn. Little Gene Elliott was given another day to rest his arm and again Otis Johnson went to third.

Although a fast ball game was assured, Atlanta did not take to it, there being hardly enough in the stands at game time to hiss the umpire. The New Yorkers cared not for the receipts. Perfect form of physical condition is what they seek and they get it better in games with teams with some playing ability. Immediately after the game and as quickly as they could dress the players got on a train for Birmingham, where to-morrow they play the representative team of that town. The Hilltops will get in here to-morrow, and for four days will play the Atlanta team.
